Those things you keep to yourself damage you from the inside out. Follow Camille King as she plows through a rough season in her once blissful marriage. Like most wives, she's not exempt from problems, disappointment or heartache. This series is a tale of love, betrayal, grief, and a desperate plea for help from the only one who can help—God.

A powerful and compelling narrative about a mother whose life begins to quickly unravel when her teen son, a high school football player, is found lifeless in his bed. After a harrowing plunge into the depths of despair and grief, she resurfaces with a greater sense of purpose to help spread awareness about the number one threat to young athletes.
